

A SNEAK PEEK...

AT JUST SOME OF THE ITEMS WE HAVE FOR SALE ON JUNE 1ST

1. Golf at Peachtree

"If there exists such a creature as the archetypal southern gentleman, this is likely where you'll find him."

A member-hosted round of golf for three at Peachtree golf course (caddies provided) and one night at the Ritz-Carlton, Buckhead, Ga.

Kindly donated and hosted by John Milward.

'I knew that Peachtree was going to be tough – I had been told so by numerous people, numerous times. It was one of those places that people would always say, "Oh, you're going to have a tough time getting a game at Peachtree," so after hearing that a dozen or more times I must admit I was beginning to get a little concerned.' - The Itinerant Golfer.

Peachtree is a small club (just 225 members) with a big history. The story goes that golfing legend and Atlanta native Bobby Jones was playing at his home course, Eastlake, when, frustrated by a slow group on the next tee holding up play, he said, "To hell with this, let's start our own club!" The club he founded was Peachtree. Bobby's co-designer was another Jones - Robert Trent Jones. The course's reputation as one of America's finest courses was confirmed in 1989 when Peachtree hosted the Walker Cup. And as if all that weren't enough, the clubhouse served as General Sherman's headquarters during his March to the Sea, which is why it is one of the few remaining Georgian-era buildings left in Atlanta.

Not only will you and your friends have the chance to play a round at Peachtree, we'll throw in a night's stay at the Ritz-Carlton, Buckhead, situated just three miles from the course, to make sure you're able to relax in style after playing a truly memorable round of golf.

Starting bid: $2000

Bobby Jones, Peachtree's founder and designer.

Above: The magnificent Peachtree golf course, on which legendary course designer Robert Trent Jones honed his skills.

Below: The elegant Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

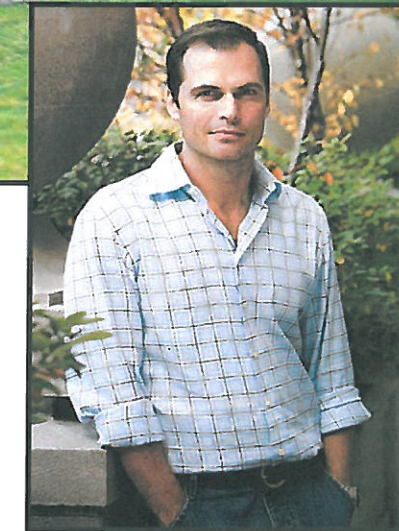

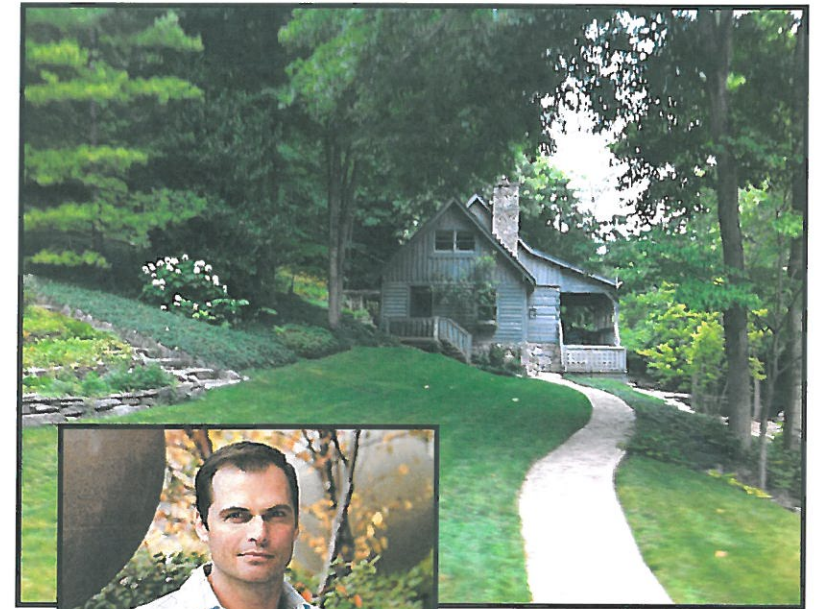

2. Dinner for 10 with Jon Carloftis

Kindly donated by Holly Wiedemann, Bart van Dissel, and Jon Carloftis.

Enjoy an exquisite evening at a very special bespoke dinner with Jon Carloftis, Kentucky native, author, television presenter, and great American gardener.

You and your friends will be charmed in the gardens of a cabin nestled on the banks of bubbling Jessamine Creek. Enjoy a lovely repast with lively conversation; a gustatory feast in the twinkle of candlelight. This lovely evening will be yours, held at the home of IHC members Holly Wiedemann and Bart van Dissel.

Estimated price: Priceless

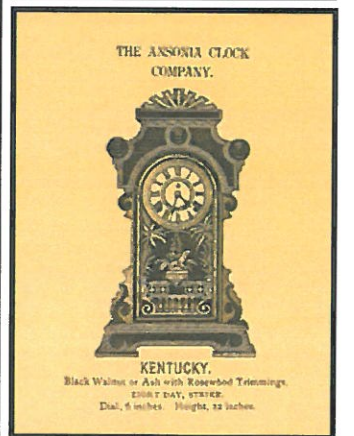

3. The 'Lexington' Clock

Kindly donated by Bob and Bonnie Briggs.

An extremely rare antique clock made in 1885 by the Ansonia Clock Company.

The Ansonia Clock Co., of Ansonia, Connecticut, and New York was active between 1851 and 1929 and was one of the most successful companies of its time. The company named a number of their mid-century clocks after states. Blue ash was the wood used for the case design of the "Kentucky" model in a wood rarely found in other clocks of the period. This wood choice was the perfect fit since blue ash is native to the state of Kentucky, particularly the inner Bluegrass region. Statesman Henry Clay named his Lexington estate "Ashland" in honor of this species.

Starting bid: $1500

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.

4. A Private Box for the Blue Grass Stakes

Kindly donated by Mr. James E. Bassett III

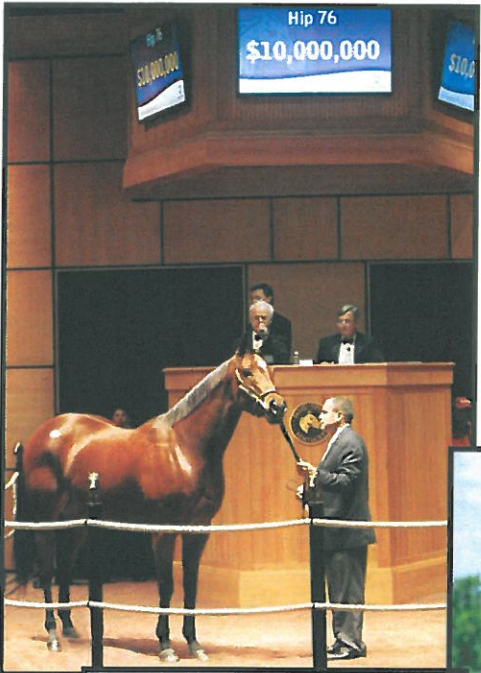

Racing doesn't get much better than Blue Grass Day at Keeneland in April. Unless, of course, you happen to be watching Keeneland's blue ribbon event from Mr. Bassett's private box, with clubhouse guest tickets and clubhouse luncheon reservations for six. Then you can truly say you've really watched racing in style.

Starting bid: $1200

5. Havre de Grace's halter

Kindly donated by Taylor Made Farm

Havre de Grace: 2011 Horse of the Year and $10 million mare. The elegant mare joined the ranks of Zenyatta and Rachel Alexandra when she was voted Horse of the Year in a landslide. At auction the next year, she brought the house down when she sold for a stunning $10 million. According to donor Taylor Made Farm, which consigned the famous mare to auction, only six people have a halter worn by Havre de Grace. They are Rick Porter, who raced her; his agent Tom McGreevy, who selected her as a yearling for Porter; her trainer Larry Jones; Mandy Pope, who paid $10 million for her; Taylor Made's Frank Taylor; and the person who wins the bidding war for this halter. You can join elite company tonight by securing this priceless piece of history, an authentic Havre de Grace halter, worn for one month during her pre-sale stay at Taylor Made in Nicholasville, Ky. As trainer Jones said before the mare herself went to auction, "It's a lifetime opportunity for some lucky person."

6. Andre Pater - An original oil painting

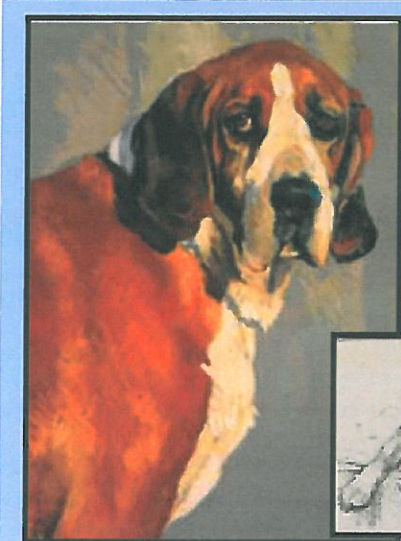

This year the Hound Welfare Fund will offer for sale an original Andre Pater oil painting. To leave a bid call (859) 327-2095.

When Greg Ladd of Cross Gate Gallery had his annual show at the Saratoga Thoroughbred sale and race meet, Andre Pater was running a little behind schedule. One painting of fox-hounds was still to be finished. No matter, they thought. Instead, Greg and Andre simply put an empty frame on the wall of the exhibition and entitled it "Left at home" - the words used for hounds not chosen to go hunting and left in the kennel. It turned out to be a masterstroke. Day by day, anticipation mounted. Would today be the day the empty frame was filled? When finally it was, it didn't remain available for long. Within five minutes the piece was bought by Sheikh Mohammed Al Maktoum for a handsome sum. Needless to say, Andre is still hard at work creating an original oil painting of a hound for this year's event. So we've taken a leaf out of his book and given you an empty frame filled with this charming portrait of the man himself to look at until the painting is ready.

Starting bid: $15,000

Also for sale by Andre Pater...

Limited-edition print of Iroquois Captain

When Andre Pater created the original pastel of famed Iroquois Captain specially for the Hound Welfare Fund's auction in 2008, he also agreed to produce a strictly limited edition of just 20 prints of the same work. This is a chance to own a print that will never be reissued, by one of the world's finest sporting artists. Each copy is signed by Andre and has a different hand-drawn remarque by him at the bottom, making it absolutely unique (see inset for example).

Starting bid: $750

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.

7. Section of UK 2012 National Championship Game Floor – Signed by Coach Calipari

Kindly donated by Christian Schnabel of Northwestern Mutual

A chance to own this piece of basketball history – a 12"x18" souvenir section of the court on which the UK Wildcats won the 2012 NCAA® Division I men's basketball national championship. The flooring features the UK logo, comes with a certificate of authenticity, and is autographed by John Calipari, UK head basketball coach.

Northwestern Mutual purchased the entire 2012 Final Four floor and donated portions of it to UK for its Rupp Arena locker room. In addition, it created a limited edition of souvenir sections of the flooring as a way to benefit Kentucky-based non-profit organizations such as Gilda's Club. Over $200,000 has been raised so far for pediatric cancer research and care alone. With only 1000 pieces created, this is a rare opportunity to purchase such a prized souvenir.

Starting bid: $400

8. Larry Dodd Wheeler - Hound vignettes (oil on board, 18" x 24")

Kindly donated by Greg Ladd and Cross Gate Gallery

About the artist:

Larry Wheeler (American, b. 1942)

Having drawn and painted from childhood, Larry Wheeler began his formal art studies with portrait painter Jack Brock in Atlanta in 1961. Wheeler received a BFA from the Maryland Institute College of Art in 1966. After several years of work as a painting conservator at the Corcoran Gallery and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., he returned to Baltimore to study and in 1972 received an MFA from the Institute's Hoffberger School of Painting. He has taught painting, drawing, and anatomy at the Maryland Institute and in community colleges in Baltimore. Since 1979, a major focus of his work has been the integration of the human figure into the natural landscape, most often with horses as the link unifying the image. Atmosphere, design, and relationships between people and their horses are some of the important elements in his paintings, captured in scenes from Palm Beach polo to Irish hunts; from Maryland timber races to racing at Saratoga. Wheeler's commissioned work continues to be in demand. His portraits hang in the State House in Annapolis, Johns Hopkins Hospital, the Supreme Court Building in Washington, D.C., the Federal Building in Baltimore, and in many private collections across the country.

Starting bid: $1000

9. Shooting at Miller Trust Farm

Kindly donated by Susan and Jerry Miller

Enjoy an afternoon or evening of sporting clay shooting at Miller Trust Farm for you and up to six guests in the company of some of the Iroquois Hunt's finest shots, including Andre Pater and Lilla Mason. And, this year, if you or any of your party are new to the sport, a special beginner's package, under the expert tuition of Tommy Dulin, will be included. Then, after the sport, relax with a sumptuous tailgate and wine by the banks of the beautiful Boone Creek, where you can sample some of the excellent produce from Susan Miller's Bleugrass Chevre goat dairy and relive the highlights of your day.

Starting bid: $1000

Terms of sale: Guns and shells will be provided.

10. Dinner for eight at Derek Vaughan's cabin

Kindly donated by Neal and Derek Vaughan

For anyone who attended the 2010 retirement party for Iroquois Harlequin at Neal and Derek Vaughan's wonderful cabin off Grime Mill Road, this is quite simply a must-have item.

Neal and Derek will host a sumptuous meal, cooked for you and your friends by their son Cooper (of Dupree, The Apiary, and Iroquois fame), in one of the most beautiful settings in Kentucky.

Available throughout the months of September and October.

Starting bid: $1000

Also for sale on June 1st...

Original watercolor by Sandra Oppgard

New Yorker magazine hunt-themed cover art

North America Racing Academy experience

One breeding to Ricardo Z

Original pastel by Tom Coates

Two-night stay at the Red Fox Inn, Middleburg, Va., and dinner at the French Hound

Round of golf at Valhalla Golf Club

Ouisha McKinney hand-painted lamps and platter

Mushroom hunt at Brookfield Farm

Voce spa day

Private hunt with the Iroquois hounds

Hand-made purse from Clever with Leather

Original oil painting by Valerie Hinz

Dinner at the Apiary restaurant

Champagne Run half-hour private lesson

Lamp from the Keeneland Shop

Darley Jonabell Stallion Farm tour

Blanket from Mickler's of Lexington

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.

To bid on any item in this brochure, please call 859-327-2095 or email cgmoakford@gmail.com.